QUINEBAUG POMONA.

Holds First Meeting of the New Year With Thompson Grange.

Quinebaug Pomona No. 2, held its first meeting of the year with Quinebaug grange at Thompson. Quinebaug grange have exceptionally attractive quarters furnished through the generosity of Brother Randolph H. Chandler, who is very enthusiastic in grange work and whose constant thoughtfulness has in past years contributed to the pleasure of the members of both the subordinate and Pomona granges. Brother Chandler has recently fitted up attractive dining rooms above the grange hall which were used on this occasion with much enjoyment.

The morning session was opened in the fifth degree, and after routine business was disposed of the incoming officers were installed by worthy State Master Arthur Sherwood, assisted by Mrs. Sherwood and Mrs. L. H. Healey, all of whom received much praise for the efficient manner in which the work was performed. The officers for 1915-16 were:

Mr. Charles A. Wheeler, Mansfield, 64; Storrs, O., Franklin H. Bennett, Ashford, 30; Ashford, L., Mrs. Maude K. Wheeler, 64; Storrs, S., Herbert R. Sive, Mansfield, 64; Pomfret Center, A. S. Emery, 64; Pomfret, Quinebaug, 65; Thompson, C. Rev. Charles A. Downs, Killingly, 112; Killingly, T. Vine R. Franklin, Brooklyn, 43; Brooklyn, Sec., Mrs. Susan G. K. Samuel, 43; Brooklyn, G. K. Samuel, A. Carpenter, Canterbury, 70; Canterbury, P. Mary J. Ross, Quinebaug, 65; Putnam, C. Helen L. Witter, Brooklyn, P. Mrs. Caroline M. Haines, Wolf Den, 61; Pomfret Center, L. A. S. Sybil P. Pettis, Quinebaug, 65, Thompson.

Executive committee: Leonard H. Healey, 150, North Woodstock, 1915; Randolph H. Chandler, 65, Thompson, 1916; Everett E. Brown, 61, Pomfret Center, 1917.

Grange Serves Dinner.
After installation a recess was declared for partaking of the appetizing dinner served by Quinebaug grange, under the leadership of Mrs. Knight.

Afternoon Session.
In the afternoon the lecturer, Mrs. Maude K. Wheeler of Storrs, presented an excellent program consisting of a lecture by Prof. Thomas Desmond of Hartford on Village Improvement. This was illustrated by a great number of views of attractive places, both in Europe and America. A violin solo by Miss Mary Ross, accompanied by Miss Helen Witter, was highly enjoyed.

A most enjoyable number was by Prof. H. R. Monteth of the Connecticut Agricultural College who spoke in an interesting manner on the European War. Prof. Monteth is always well received by Pomona audiences, as he is not only a great and able lecturer, but also has a most interesting delivery and holds the attention of his audience closely. He was at his best, instructive, witty and entertaining.

The program was a very strong one and augurs well for a very successful year. The crowd was a good one, the weather good and the whole affair passed in the best possible manner. Resolutions were passed in memorial of Sister Fanny E. Webster, a former Pomona lecturer, also notes of thanks and appreciation to Brother Chandler for special acts of kindness and to Quinebaug grange for its hospitality.

The new officers are ambitious, capable, and earnest, and the next two years promise to be banner years for Quinebaug Pomona. Its members say: "Watch us Grow!"

WESTERLY JURY AWARDS $500

Finds for Peter Pucci, 4, Lamed When Run Over by Coal Wagon—Board of Trade Hears About County Agent's Work—Funeral of William D. Moss.

Judge Chester W. Barrows of Providence presided at the session of the superior court for Washington county here Monday. Judge John W. Sweeney, who presided last week, went to Newport. The case on trial was that of Peter Pucci vs. Wayland A. Saunders. This was a suit brought to recover damages to the amount of $1,500 for injuries alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff, a boy four years of age, at Bradford, Sept. 18, 1914, when he was lamed by the wagon of the defendant, loaded with coal, ran over the boy and fractured his left leg near the thigh. Attorney Clarence E. Root for the plaintiff made a motion to increase the addendum to $2,500, on the ground that the injuries were more severe than at first believed. This the court denied.

Theresa Pucci, Dr. Michael H. Scanlon, and Dr. Benoni Sweet of Wakefield were the more important witnesses heard, but in all of the testimony presented not one of the witnesses was an eye witness to the accident. Dr. Sweet testified to attending the boy eleven times. He attended him eight times in succession, he said, and then a short time afterwards he visited the boy three or four more times. On the last series of visits he found that the injured member was not doing as well as when he first attended the boy, and it seemed that the leg had been injured. Dr. Scanlon testified that had the boy received more thorough attention the leg might have healed more rapidly and the boy would not be in danger of being permanently lame. He testified to measuring the leg in the office of Attorney Root before the trial and finding it one inch shorter than the right leg.

The child was presented in the court room and a money order was made for the jury box, so that the jury might ascertain just how lame the boy was. The jury was out less than a half hour when it returned with a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $500.

The regular monthly meeting of the Western Board of Trade was held Monday evening in the town hall on Broad street. A United States county agricultural agent was present and gave an illustrated lecture on the work of the county agent. This lecture was to be held on Tuesday evening, but it was decided to join with the Board of Trade at its regular session on Monday evening. There was a large attendance at persons from the rural districts interested in agricultural work who greatly enjoyed the instructive lecture given them.

Joseph T. Murphy, representing the St. Vincent de Paul society, and also the social welfare committee of the Western District Nurse association, was at the meeting of the Western Board of Trade on Monday in the interest of the poor people of the town. He said the private charitable organizations that he represented in part, as well as others, had exhausted their resources, and on behalf of the destitute people he asked for assistance from the charity department of the town. He said that the Overseer of the Poor had been aiding the poor as well as the appropriation at his command permitted, but he, too, had reached the point where he could not continue to work to help meet the present extraordinary demand. Mr. Harber says that the appropriation is barely sufficient to meet the regular expenses of the department for the fiscal year which ends April 30. The new appropriation will be available until after the financial town meeting in June.

Mr. Murphy said that $7 persons had been assisted by the private charity he was representing, and at the present time they were absolutely without food and fuel. Mr. Murphy said that the cause of the present unusual situation in the town was due to the inability of the heads of the families to secure employment, and he added that most of the men now seeking aid have been usually employed in the highway department of the town. He said that the private charity organizations having already gone beyond their limitations, he was up to the town authorities to care for these poor people.

Councilman Haswell, chairman of the highway committee, said he had consulted with the town treasurer with reference to holding a town meeting special appropriation to carry out the work on the highways, and thus give employment to these men, with their families, are now in need of aid. He said that the town would have to allow that something must be done to relieve the distress of the suffering poor, but he could not see how men could be employed on the highway when there was no money to pay for the service, although there was necessity for work on the highways.

Mr. Murphy said the condition was very serious and if the town could not relieve the distress appeal would be made to the state for these people can be permitted to starve. Among the sufferers are eight families composed of 12 persons all dependent upon the earnings of the head of the families who are anxious to work at anything and for any wages. These men have been compelled to spend every cent they possessed, their credit is exhausted, and they are with their families on the verge of starvation and something must be done. There are many charitable persons in Westerly, he said, and he added that while they had been doing praiseworthy work in assisting those at a distance, there is work enough for them right here at home, where charity should begin.

Councilman Flynn said it was the duty of the town to properly care for the deserving poor and he believed that the people as a whole were in sympathy with that sentiment. He suggested that the council recommend to the overseer of the poor that he render all necessary assistance, expend the appropriation, and that the deficit would be cheerfully voted in financial town meeting, and the action of the overseer approved under the existing and unforeseen conditions. Mr. Flynn realized that the overseer of the poor was an elective office and over which the town council had no official control, still he believed the backing of the council in this matter would be appreciated by Overseer Barber. Councilman Culley and Councilman Flynn were appointed a committee to confer with Overseer Barber.

A communication was received from the Frank W. Co. Real Estate company notifying the town that steps must be taken within 30 days to stop the drainage from the Shore road from running on to the land of the company and Mrs. Welch, known as the Wilcox farm, or legal steps would be taken in an endeavor to prevent the nuisance and the consequent damage. The question was raised that inasmuch as the highway complained of was in the possession of the state rather than the town, that the complainants should seek redress from the state. Councilman Haswell said the question had not been settled whether the state was responsible for the highway from wall to wall or only over that part that had been built by and maintained by the state. The matter was referred to the town solicitor.

Councilmen Thomas and Flynn and Solicitor Agard were appointed a committee to investigate the complaint made by T. D. Picard against the public auditor in front of the railway station and convenient to his garage and stable and interfering with his business made report. So far as could be ascertained no nuisance existed as there was no congestion at that point, although conditions may be changed when the summer season opens, and if there is congestion it will be time enough for action. The committee had nothing to do with the adjustment of competition that was unfavorable to the complainant, nor did they believe that it was good policy to consider the licensing of public vehicles at this time, especially as it could not be confined to the street and discrimination would cause much dissatisfaction.

Melvin Hansen, civil engineer, submitted a plan for widening and straightening a section of Oak street, in order that a street line could be established to facilitate the sale of building lots with irregular lines. He argued that the street needed attention and that it was better for the council to deal with owner rather than a large number of owners later on. It was argued by the councilmen, and Civil Engineer McKenzie, who explained the Hansen plan, and approved the matter to a committee to ascertain if it were possible at this time to have the entire street widened and straightened. The matter was referred to the highway committee.

Horace Stillman was before the council and made a complaint against being obliged to take out a license to sell milk, basing his claim on the fact that he did not peddle milk, but sold all of his product to the Western Ice Cream company, which had taken out license to deal in milk, thereby causing a double license to be paid for the handling of the same milk. He believed that inasmuch as the farmer had the right to sell his farm products without license that milk came under the hear of farm products. When the law was explained to Mr. Stillman, which related to the sale of milk, he said he wanted to comply with the law and denounce the milk company for a milk license. These licenses are granted by the town council and over sixty applications were approved at Monday's meeting. Mr. Stillman then called attention to the bad condition of the White Rock road, or rather a section of it. He was assured by the highway committee that the road would receive attention just as soon as funds were able to carry on the work.

Crief of Police Thomas E. Brown reported that there were six arrests during February and two successful liquor raids, and Health Officer Lewis Stanton reported two cases of scarlet fever. The special committee to consider the petition for a police officer to be stationed regularly in Oak street, reported through Councilman Segar that there was no need for a permanent officer for that street at the present time. Thomas Theros was given permission to withdraw his application for license for pool tables. Albert N. Crandall was reappointed a water commissioner for a term of three years.

Councilman Craig asked if anything had been done in relation to the payment of the bill for the six months at the home of Fred C. Crowell on Laurel Hill, Norwich, returned Monday to their home in Ashaway. Federal moth hunters are again at work in Westerly. The men are particularly in search of the gypsy moth. One year ago the state had men here investigating the brown tail moth and they found four colonies of the commoning and twenty-seven in Westerly.

The funeral of William D. Moss was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Samuel Cathcart, pastor of the Congregational church, officiated. The bearers were Dr. Albert H. Spicer, Eugene B. Pendleton, William L. Clark, Frank F. Dodge, Benjamin Holman and William Seelye. Burial was in River Bend cemetery.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Man Who Comes to Help Samuel Farmer Breaks Three Bones—Rockville Preacher Heard.

Lot O'Halloran went to New York Monday night to attend the horse show. Samuel Farmer, who had a bone in his right hand broken while cranking his automobile last Friday was unable to work at his trade. He therefore secured a man from Springfield to his place on Saturday and went to his home in Springfield to spend Sunday. Mr. Farmer received word on Monday morning that the man got three of his bones broken on Sunday and would be unable to return. This left Mr. Farmer with nothing doing at his shop until he secured Joseph Starkey, a former employee from Monson to take up the duties.

Rev. Mr. Buckley of Rockville preached at the Union service at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

CLOSING DAY OF CONGRESS WAS BUSY

developments of the day, conferees on this much-discussed measure agreeing to two submarines of the seagoing type and sixteen coast defense submarines. The house bill had provided for only one seagoing submarine and seven of the coast defense type. House conferees yielded to the senate demand for the sixteen coast defense vessels, but would not accept the senate proposal for five of the seagoing type. Neither would the house conferees agree to the senate proposal for a new hospital ship and a new gunboat, these being eliminated from the report. The provision for two battleships was unchanged.

Abolition of Plucking Board.
Tomorrow the conference committee will meet further to consider sections of the bill relating to abolition of the plucking board and establishment of an advisory board on aeronautics.

Unfinished Appropriation Bills.
Leaders of both houses concentrated their efforts on conference reports on unfinished appropriation bills throughout the day and evening and it was generally agreed that the big measures were as far advanced as they usually are in the strenuous closing days of a congress. Although the army, naval, and post office bills were measures are still in conference, it was expected that all would be reported to Monday's meeting in plenty of time for approval by both houses.

Conference reports on the District of Columbia, military academy and sundry civil appropriation bills were finally approved during the day.
A Billion Dollars Appropriations.
Measures approved and sent to the president up to tonight aggregate an outlay of $1,411,263,611. The other nine bills, excluding the $25,000,000 river and harbor bill, as passed by the senate, aggregate $674,929,110. This amount may be reduced by the various conference committee bills taken with the total already approved, gives an estimated aggregate of about $958,000,000. Added to this, in all probability, will be a joint resolution appropriating a lump sum of $25,000,000 to $20,000,000 to continue existing river and harbor projects.

River and Harbor Bill.
Senators Burton and Kenyon submitted to the commerce committee today a list of items in the river and harbor bill which they wanted cut out aggregating $13,000,000. This would reduce the bill to $25,000,000, but administration leaders believe that even such a bill would provoke prolonged debate and practically have decided to offer a blanket resolution to provide for existing projects. Army engineers have estimated that $30,000,000 would be required for this.

Action of house republicans today in filibustering against consideration of conference reports on the government ship purchase bill prevented action on that measure, and some of its champions were inclined to abandon and further effort to force it. Another effort to get the report approved may be made tomorrow, although republican senate leaders have reiterated their opposition to the bill, and the death if it is sent to the senate again.

UNIQUE PROBLEM FOR SHELTON ELECTION OFFICIALS

Man Sleeps With Head in Borough of Shelton—Part of Body in Huntington.

Shelton, Conn., March 1.—Because he sleeps with his head in the borough of Shelton, although a part of his body lies in the town of Huntington outside the borough limits, the election officials allowed Edward Black, colored, 212 Elm street, to vote in the borough election here today, after he had been questioned.

When he came to the polling place his right to vote was challenged. It was pointed out that the line dividing the town of Huntington and the borough of Shelton ran through Black's house, but he insisted that his domicile in Huntington. Questioning by the election officials elicited further information that the line ran through Black's best, Black explained, however, that when he slept his head lay inside the borough limits, even though a part of his body rested on the other side of the line. In view of this explanation he was permitted to cast his vote.

The election was won by the republican ticket. Ward defeating his democratic opponent, L. E. Mouthrop, 444 to 224.

ALLIES DELAYED IN DARDANELLES CAMPAIGN.
Rain and Mist Prevent Long Range Fire and Hammer Aeroplane Observations.

London, March 1, 8.55 p. m.—The attack of the allied fleet on the Dardanelles has been interrupted. The official information bureau issued a statement tonight saying that the operations were being delayed by bad weather.

The secretary of the admiralty makes the following announcement: "The operations in the Dardanelles are again delayed by unfavorable weather. A strong northeasterly gale is blowing with rain and mist, which would render long range fire and aeroplane observations difficult."
